1. Three former German generals are now on duty with the German Administration of Interior.
  - a. Lt. General Vincent Muller is Deputy Chief of Hauptabteilung "G" (border police).
  - b. Maj. General Wilhelm Wolff is in charge of military training at the advanced police school, Berlin-Pankow.
  - c. Maj. General Arthur Brandt is head of Hauptabteilung "I" (troop supply). He is probably identical with Arthur Brandt, former German commandant of Ploesti, Rumania, and known to have been active in the Free Germany Committee.

2. Each branch and division in the GAI, as well as all major police offices in the Soviet Zone, will have as chief deputy a man with politico-cultural training and responsibility. A functional deputy will be subordinate to the chief deputy.

Comment: [redacted] reporting independently stated that political-cultural personnel will act as political commissars.)

3. A new pay directive for the police and the GAI is expected. This will be followed probably by the uniforming of all GAI personnel and by the requirement of three year service commitments from all police employees. Such commitments are now signed by newly repatriated members of the para-military police.

Comment: The above are further indications of the rapidly increasing militarization of the Soviet Zone police. Although hampered by personnel shortages on the lower levels, GIL is developing an elite police group which could easily become the cadre for a new German army.)
